Description

Partner:

The Regional Nature Reserve of Lorraine is a classified territory thanks to the quality of its cultural and natural heritage. A joint management union's mission is to ensure the preservation of its biodiversity and its landscapes, while promoting sustainable local economic development. Among the projects that the Park Union is currently implementing is the preservation and enhancement of several works in dry stone, action that receives the support of the INTERREG IVA program Greater Region of the European Union.

Work:

You will restore a small dry stone wall that supports an enchanting path. You will work side by side with other international volunteers and a specialized team leader who will accompany you through the art of dry stone !

Accomodation and food:

You will be accomodated in the "Carrefour des Jeunes" ("Youth Crossroads") cottage, located in the village of Beaumont.

Location and leisure:

The site is located in the heart of the verdant Rupt Valley (river) of Mad, a tributary of the Moselle which has carved the Lorraine limestone plateau. Lorraine is an ancient cultural region. Historically, the Lorraine was a frontier territory between the French and Germanic entities and consequently the theater of major military conflicts. Today, marks of this history that are still visible. The multimillennial city of Metz, with its vast and varied architectural heritage, is only a few kilometers from Rupt de Mad. Close to the accommodation is you will find the Lake Madine, the largest lake in the region and important recreational area with, among others, two beaches for swimming.

Requirements:

Unfortunately the site is not accessible for wheelchairs
